Brasenose Colleges GDPR ROPA - Student Applicant & Outreach Processing Activities - v1.4 (Reviewed June 2023)

ID.	Category of personal data	Source of the data	Why we process it	How long we keep this data	Our lawful basis for processing	Details relating to lawful basis (where applicable)	Special category grounds	Special category- details of public interest etc	Criminal conviction/ criminal allegation grounds	Criminal conviction/criminal allegation grounds (further information)
1	Applications for and decisions about financial support, for example scholarships, bursarie and hardship funds. This includes communications that we send and receive to third parties that provide financial support.	We obtain this data from you; We generate this data about you; We may receive decisions from third decisions from third parties that provide financial support.	in order to make decisions about financial support and to ensure that the College is encouraging and supporting participation by talented people from all backgrounds.	Successful applicants who enrol: ETIRER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student, but if you are awarded a scholarshig this will remain on your record permanently as part of the College archive. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applications: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled.	You have given your consent to the processing for one or more specific purposes.
2	book accommodation, your phone number and emergency contact numbers).	from you We generate this data about you		Two years after the open day or study day	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms	The College and prospective students have a legitimate interest in arranging and attooling open days to share and learn about College life before deciding whether to apply.
3	Information you provide to us or the University of Oxford during the application process, including with your UCAS and graduate application forms consisting of your name, intended course, preferred Colleges, contact details, gender identity, education and employment history, predicted grades, language proficiency, personal statement, references and any research proposal or written work that you submit during the application process.	We obtain this data from the University of Oxford	To make admission decisions.	Successful applicants who ernot: ETHRF for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cases to be a registered student, but if you are avarded a scholarship this will remain on your record permanently as part of the College archive. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled.	Processing is necessary in order to take steps at your request prior to to entering a contract Processing is necessary for the purposes of our or someone bet's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms	The College has a legitimate interest in administering applications and deciding who should be offered places.
4	decision letters that we send to applicants, notes of your interview performance, feedback we provide you on your application, records of the offers we make, records of whether you mest the conditions of the offer and records of whether you enrol at the College. We also of whether you enrol at the College. We also the context of the equivalent decisions by the University department that you apply to.	Oxford We generate this data about you	To make admissions decisions and inform you of the outcome.	Excessively applicants who enrol: ETHER for 25 years after the enrol acidemic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled.	in order to take steps in your request prior to entering a contract. Processing is necessary for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms	The Golges has a legitimate interest in administering applications and deciding who should be offered places.
5	Sensitive data that you provide during the application process, consisting of information about your ethnicity, disabilities, special needs, dietary requirements (whether for health or religious reasons), and records of any criminal convictions that you inform us about. Records of our decisions taking this information into account.	We obtain this data from the University of Oxford We obtain this data from you	We proces this data in order to consider whether to make reasonable adjustments (in the case of information about your disability and/or health), to implement them and for equality monitoring purposes. In the case of criminal convictions, the College and University will use this data to consider and make decisions about whether any conviction poses an unacceptable risk in the collegiate university environment.	Successful applicants who ernol: ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you case to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETINIED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the applicants: for 6 years after the after the last late when you could have errolled.		The College has a legitimate interest in assessing whether any individual poses an unacceptable safety risk.	Substantial public interest under the UK Data Protection Act 2018	Where the College processes special category data for these purposes, the processing is necessary for the prevention of a breach of its obligations under the Equality Act 2010. The processing is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest, namely that the College must comply with its statutory obligations concerning equality and to make reasonable adjustments. The processing must be carried out without consent so as not to prejudice those purposes.	The processing meets a condition in Part 2 of Schedule 1 to the Data Protection Act 2018	Where the College processes criminal convictions/allegitoms data for these purposes, the processing is necessary for the prevention of a breach of its obligations under health and safety hav . The processing is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest, annely that the College must comply with its statutory obligations concerning health and safety. The processing must be carried out without consent so as not to prejudice those purposes.

6	Your fee status (e.g. home, EU, or international)	We obtain this data	In order to determine the fees you are required to pay and to confirm that you will be able to meet the	Successful applicants who enrol:	Processing is necessary	Legislation determines to an extent the level of
, in the second se	and associated information about your country		requirement to pay fees.	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the		fees you are required to pay, based on your requirement to pay rees.
		We obtain this data		academic year when you cease to be a	your request prior to	country of residence.
	funding information including your financial	from third parties (e.g.		registered student, but if you are awarded a	entering a contract
		parents).		scholarship this will remain on your record
	provide about funding (e.g. loans, grants,			permanently as part of the College archive.	Processing is necessary sponsorship and/or self-funding resources,				for compliance with a
	including copies of evidence you submit) and			OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE:	legal obligation decisions that we make in light of that information.			Permanently.
				remanently.
	The evidence submitted by you or on your			Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the behalf may include financial information about			end of the application cycle.
	those assisting you financially, for example parents' bank statements.			Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have
	We may also share this data with the University.			enrolled.
	we may also share and data with the oniversity.			chi dicu.
	ļ	Į		1
7			To answer queries that you may have about studying at the College.	Successful applicants who enrol:		The College has a legitimate interest in receiving
1	prospective students.	from you		EITHER for 25 years after the end of the	in order to take steps at	and responding to a range of queries from
1	1	We generate this data		academic year when you cease to be a	your request prior to
1	1	about you		registered student.	entering a contract
1	1				and a contract
1	1			OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE:	Deservation in second
1	1			OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE:	Processing is necessary
1	1				for the purposes of our
1	1			Permanently.	or someone else's
1	1				legitimate interests,
				Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the	except where end of the application cycle.	overridden by your
				end of the application eyele.	data protection rights
				Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years	and freedoms
				after the last date when you could have enrolled.
8	Records about whether to invite applicants for	We obtain this data	We process this data to decide who to invite for interview.	Successful applicants who enrol:	Processing is necessary	The College has a legitimate interest in using
8	Records about whether to invite applicants for interview including consideration of contextual		We process this data to decide who to invite for interview.			The College has a legitimate interest in using appropriate data about academic performance.
8	interview, including consideration of contextual	from the University of		EITHER for 25 years after the end of the	for the purposes of our	appropriate data about academic performance,
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your	from the University of Oxford	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a	for the purposes of our or someone else's	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care	from the University of Oxford We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests,	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE:	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	ETHRER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the applicants who do not enrol: 6 years	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the applicants who do not enrol: 6 years	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background),test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you we also obtain this data from you	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled.	for the purposes of our or someone evelve's legitimate interests, except where except where except where except where data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Exolicit consent
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria: https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to-	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not ervol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol:	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also abtain this data from you We obtain this data from you	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: ETHERE for 25 years after the end of the	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the applicants who do not envol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: ETIMER for 25 years after the end of the academic year who you coase to be a	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also abtain this data from you We obtain this data from you	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: ETHERE for 25 years after the end of the	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not envol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: ETIMER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
8	interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the applicants who do not envol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: ETIMER for 25 years after the end of the academic year who you coase to be a	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not envol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: ETIMER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the applicants who do not errol: 5 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: EITHER for 23 years after the end of the academic year when you cause to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE:	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interests, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not envol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: ETIMER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
9	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: ETITIER for 25 years after the end of the acidemic years eather the end of the acidemic years eather the end of the acidemic years eather the end of the acidemic. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
9	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cases to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who de not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: ETHRER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you could have enrolled. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
9	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	ETHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: ETITIER for 25 years after the end of the acidemic years eather the end of the acidemic years eather the end of the acidemic years eather the end of the acidemic. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Epjlcit consent
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postcode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cases to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the applicants who de not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: ETHRER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you could have enrolled. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cases to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who de not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: ETHRER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you could have enrolled. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
9	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you could have enrolled. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the student.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
9	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who enrol: EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you could have enrolled. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
9	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the last date when you could have enrolled. Successful applicants who enrol: EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you could have enrolled. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the applicants who do not enrol: 6 years after the student.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
9	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who enrol: EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you could have enrolled. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
9	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who enrol: EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you could have enrolled. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
9	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who enrol: EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you could have enrolled. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent
8	Interview, including consideration of contextual information (relating to information about your school performance, postode and care background), test scores and marks for written work that we have requested. We will also hold copies of the tests and written work that you submit.	from the University of Oxford We generate this data about you We also obtain this data from you We obtain this data from you We generate this data	The role of contextual admissions data is explained more fully on the University's website, but is taken into account when deciding whether to invite applicants for interview in addition to candidates who have met the usual departmental admissions criteria. https://www.ox.ac.uk/admissions/undergraduate/applying-to- oxford/decisions/contextual-data?wsl=1	EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you cease to be a registered student. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants who enrol: EITHER for 25 years after the end of the academic year when you could have enrolled. OR IF ALL RETAINED IN ARCHIVE: Permanently. Unsuccessful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle. Successful applicants: for 6 years after the end of the application cycle.	for the purposes of our or someone else's legitimate interess, except where overridden by your data protection rights and freedoms.	appropriate data about academic performance, and to take account of the context of academic achievement in order to decide who to invite for	Explicit consent		